NO. 52

COL. PRENTISS INGRAHAM DEAD

SOLDIER OF FORTUNE—TRAVELER OF THE EARTH DIES IN STATE WHERE BORN.

He Was Temporarily Located in Gettysburg For a Year or More, Thirty Years Ago.

Col. Prentiss Ingraham, born in Adams county, Mississippi, lying along the river of same name, taking part in every war since he came of age, circulating the globe as a soldier of fortune, returned recently to his native state and died last Wednesday at Beauvoir, Mississippi, situated on the Gulf of Mexico, at the age of 61 years.

Prentiss Ingraham was a son of Rev. Dr. J. H. Ingraham, a prominent minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church, whose works notably "Prince of the House of David," are still in wide circulation. The father in early life had served before the mast and been prominent in Latin-American revolutions.

The son inherited the father's disposition. As a boy he was a sailor in the Gulf of Mexico and South American waters. At the breaking out of the war he enlisted in the Confederate army when only 19, in 1861, and rose to the rank of colonel, being twice seriously wounded, the last time in the battle at Franklin, Tenn., in Gen. Hood's ill-advised Tennessee campaign in 1864. He was a dashing soldier.

After the close of the war he entered the army of the Mexican Nationalist under Juarez and served until he saw Maximilian's empire forever overthrown, the City of Mexico captured and the Republic re-established. He next served in the four greatest wars in Europe since the days of Bonaparte—the Prussian-Austrian struggle, being on General Hoffman's staff in the disastrous Sadowa campaign—the Franco-German war of 1870—the Russo-Turkish war of 1877, being a Pasha in command of a Turkish regiment in Crete during the Cretan revolution—and the Balkan war between Bulgaria and Servia in 1885.

In the Cretan affair the Colonel escaped at the conclusion, reached Jerusalem and went overland alone down the Euphrates River, and across into India and up into China and the South Pacific Islands, thence back to his native land.

Colonel Ingraham was always a deep sympathizer with the Cubans and did valiant service in the Ten Years' Cuban war as a filibuster, one time being captured and sentenced to death by the Spaniards. He also at one time joined the Kedive's army in Egypt and fought in Abyssinia.

He was an intimate friend and companion of Col. William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," being visited by the latter when the Colonel resided in Gettysburg. He was also visited by Texas Jack here. With Buffalo Bill he had many thrilling adventures in fighting cow boys and train robbers in the far west.

As souvenirs of the adventures of one of the most typical soldiers of fortune this country ever had the Colonel carried a sabre slash on his hand, a shell wound among his ribs, an Indian arrow cut in his head received in a western fight, a Turkish bayonet wound in his leg and a bullet hole in his foot received in Mexico.

This unique character lived two or three years in Gettysburg, located at the Eagle Hotel with his wife and family. It was about the years 1875 and 1876. He had a captivating personality, was tall and handsome, black hair and eyes. He was fond of horse-back riding, and hunting. A handsome silver mounted rifle is remembered as one of his possessions. His wife was a charming little lady admired by every one with whom she came in contact. The Colonel was a wonderful conversationalist, with a pleasing voice and very entertaining. He would tell of his adventures in a way that never tired. He made money at his writings and spent it as fast as he made it and faster. He was very generous, if unable to respond to any appeal he would borrow to do so. He presented to the Episcopal congregation of this place the very handsome Bible bound in red still in use in the church.

Colonel Ingraham was a prolific writer, being the author of probably more works of adventure than any other man in America. He is said to have written in his day one thousand volumes. Many were of dime novel class. They were not all of this class however, he having written what is considered the most complete history of Talbot county, Maryland, in his work "Land of Legendary Lore."

In 1898 Colonel Ingraham moved to Chicago where Mrs. Ingraham's father Colonel Langley, held a custom house position and had since made his home in that city.

He was a cousin of Mrs. Florence E. Maybrick, who sometime ago was liberated from prison and is now sailing for America, and the Colonel just before his death had been on a trip to Virginia and West Virginia, where he had gone to look after her vast estates there. He had expected to meet her upon her arrival in this country.

He is survived by his wife living in Chicago, a son, Langley, of Atlanta, Ga., his oldest child Ivy, a baby when they lived in Gettysburg, now Mrs. Austin Cole and Miss Rosebud Ingraham, of Chicago.

Current Business

Aaron Hoffman and Frank Dellinger were appointed appraisers to set aside the property of Joseph H. Orndorff deceased for the use of Louisa J. Orndorff, his widow.

A battle royal began at the very moment the case of the Com. vs. H. L. Haines, J. Fred Holtzinger and N. S. Meads indicted for counterfeiting or imitating Union Cigar Makers labels was taken up on Monday. The District Attorney had as associates in conduct of case Jerry Black Esq. of York, and W. C. Sheely and J. L. Williams Esq., of this place. Hon. F. E. Beltzhoover and Wm. Hersh Esq. looked after the interests of the defendant. The jury was selected Monday morning. Before the jury was sworn, in the afternoon the legal battle opened with a motion made by defendants that indictment be quashed. Hon. F. E. Beltzhoover argued at length to the court that the Act of Assembly under which the defendants were indicted was unconstitutional. He contended that the title of the Act which provided for the adoption of trademarks by unions and the regulation of the same did not cover a criminal prosecution for counterfeiting same, that the Act was unconstitutional so far as it contained matters not mentioned in the titles. Authorities apparently in support of the position were submitted. After the argument closed the court said "this is a question for an appellate court" and motion to quash was overruled. The defendants next asked for separate trials. The court started to refuse the same when the commonwealth said a separate trial was agreeable to them and same was finally ordered. Election to try N. G. Meads was made by the Commonwealth. It was Tuesday afternoon before the case of the prosecution had been presented to the jury. N. G. Meads of Red Lion, York Co., in Jan. managing a wholesale tobacco factory sent to H. H. Hershey of York Springs a case of cigars which contained Union labor label which was a counterfeit. At conclusion of evidence of the Commonwealth counsel for defendant moved that the court direct jury to find defendant not guilty, that the sale of goods was in York county and a legal delivery consummated there. The Commonwealth contended that contract was not executed until acceptance of goods in Adams county and the using and displaying counterfeit label was in this county. The court concluded that jurisdiction was in this county.

BIG FIRE IN LITTLESTOWN

FINE BRICK RESIDENCE OF WM. YOUNT BURNED TO THE GROUND

Gasoline Stove Exploded Causing Fire Resulting in Damage Amounting to Five Thousand Dollars.

A fire started after three o'clock yesterday afternoon in the brick house of Wm. Yount, second door from the square on East King St., in Littlestown. The house adjoined on one side the fine brick residence of L. M. Alleman and on the other side by brick building owned by Miss Emma Emma Shorb and occupied by Mr. Mayer. The fire caught in store room. The house of Wm. Yount is a large comfortable brick dwelling, with store room occupied by Laughman's clothing store. In the store room was a gasoline stove used for tailoring purposes. Wm. Yount and wife left in the morning for Ocean City, N. J., leaving two daughters at home. The fire was caused by explosion of the gasoline stove. Laughman the proprietor was buried into the street. He was picked up greatly injured and taken by conveyance to his home. The fire spread over the house and was at once beyond control. The fight was made to confine it to the house.

Other properties were on fire at different times but finally fire was gotten under control. The Shorb house next door being damaged to some extent but loss fully covered by insurance. There was also some damage to the Alleman home. The loss of Wm. Yount will be about $5,000; it is not known what insurance he has. Laughman loses entire contents of his store. It is said the explosion was terrific and immediately smoke and fire was seen at many points.

Luray Excursion

The Luray excursion from York on last Saturday was very large in number, about 1500 persons being on the three sections, made up of eight, nine and six coaches. The committee in charge had decided to cancel the excursion on account of threatening weather but the hundreds of people at York station compelled a different decision. The trains were over an hour late in leaving and hence that late in reaching different points along the route. The first and second sections were so crowded that no one was taken on them at this place and it was after 9 o'clock when third section arrived. Fifty tickets were sold at Gettysburg.

The election of Rev. S. G. Hefel-bower to the Presidency of Pennsylvania College created a vacancy in the Chair of German and French, and the executive committee have had under consideration the selection of some one to fill the chair. Last week it was announced that Professor Charles E. Dryden, vice-principal of the Maryland State Normal School at Frostburg, had accepted the position. The President of College after his election immediately went earnestly to work for students and funds and according to reports has already met with gratifying success. The Freshman class at the opening of college is expected to number from 75 to 80 students. Rumor has it that promises of considerable financial help have also been received.

AUTOMOBILE CAUSES RUNAWAY

East Berlin, Aug. 16.—Last Wednesday evening East Berlin and vicinity was visited with a heavy shower of rain. Our older citizens say it was the heaviest shower they witnessed for about fifteen years.

Thieves effected an entrance to C. M. Spahr's store last Tuesday night and carried off quite an amount of valuable property, consisting mostly of shoes and ready-made clothing. Four suspicious characters were noticed on the streets the day previous, and the thieves were tracked for about one-half mile. Entrance was gained by removing a large pane of glass from a door in the rear of the store building. The value of the goods stolen is estimated at about $250.00.

While Mr. Wentz, the driver for the Dillsburg bakery was returning from this place last Wednesday, his two horses became frightened at an automobile near Bermudian, and ran away, doing slight damage to the wagon and harness, but no serious injury to themselves. Mr. Wentz luckily escaped unhurt. The horses were stopped after running about a mile and a half. About twenty-two dollars in coin, which Mr. Wentz kept in the wagon box was lost, but sixteen dollars of this amount was recovered.

On Saturday afternoon William Sell took his uncle, Noah Sell, to Dover. The former attended a picnic in the vicinity, the latter went to York to transact business, when they were ready to start home they discovered someone had taken their new buggy and left another in its stead, up to this time they have no information regarding what became of their vehicle. The landlord at hotel is doing all he can to recover the vehicle.

EYE STRAIN A CAUSE OF HEADACHE AND OTHER NERVOUS AFFECTIONS

Eye strain is an enormously frequent, fertile and unsuspecting cause of nervous disease and other phenomena apparently monocular. While eye strain may often and does produce symptoms directly referable to the eye, irritation of the lids, blurring of vision, etc., it is indeed a noteworthy fact that in many cases the patient complains little or not at all of ocular symptoms and in many cases of great eye strain they heartily aver that their eyes are perfect and give no trouble. This is an amazing and interesting, but a genuine fact.

HYPERMETROPIA OR FAR SIGHT

Is that condition of the eyes where the anterior posterior diameter is abnormal as to length and is the cause of many tired eyes and headache, and especially true among scholars at school or persons making great demand on their eyes reading or book-keeping, or ladies who do a great deal of sewing, lace work or constant close occupation will produce one or more of the following troubles, steady pain back of eyes, shooting pain in eyes, periodical or regular steady headache in the top, side or back of head or a sensation that hair has been combed the opposite way to which you have been used to, or a tenderness of the scalp, or a feeling that the scalp is tightening or contracting, or pain extending down the back of the head to the spine or extending to the shoulders, accompanied by frequent dizziness if you turn quickly, or sick stomach, or if very nervous, a languid or tired feeling, inability to apply the mind, vertigo, etc. Although your vision may seem good, you may rest assured it is not if you have any of the above symptoms.

Eye strain as a cause of headache is a very important subject. Dr. Stover years ago called the attention of the medical profession to the fact that errors of refraction are frequent causes of headache. At the present time investigation of a cause of headache is not complete until the refraction of the eye and the ocular muscles have been carefully considered. It is an assured fact that at least three-fourths of all headaches are due to eye strain. As to sick headache, it is due to eye strain in ninety-five per cent. of the cases. Eye strain is usually the result of hypermetropia or far sight. Myopia or near sight, astigmatism, presbyopia or failing sight from old age, and spasm of the accommodation. Other affections of the eye may cause headache but are more frequently accompanied by the symptoms. The significance of headache is not often fully recognized because its death bringing power is so slowly operative. But once think of the brain as the highest seat and center of vital and regular life, and you must realize that its paining must mean harmful or even destructive activity for all the vital powers. Cases are not by any means rare in which after many years or a lifetime of suffering caused by eye strain, the mental moorings show positive evidence of giving away, and melancholy, loss of memory, illogical acts, etc., become painfully apparent.

During the past ten years I have treated more than twenty thousand cases of eye strain and could submit many long letters from my patients in praise of my method and of satisfaction they received, but will confine the list to a few prominent and well known people of western Pennsylvania.

Dr. W. D. JAMES of East Brady, Pa., says:—I have only words of praise for Dr. Stover and his new system of eye work. My eyes had failed so much I thought I was going to lose my sight or would have to have an operation on them, and after trying many other opticians I called on Dr. Stover. After a careful and thorough examination I was told that no operation would be needed. After removing the strain from the nerve of my eyes he fitted me with glasses. I can now see as well as when a boy, for both distant and close, and read for hours without tiring. I consider him an expert and his new method a wonder worker.

HEADACHE OF OVER 35 YEARS STANDING OVERCOME.

Chicora, Pa., Sept. 18, 1902.

DR. C. HALDEMAN STOVER:—After an experience of five months with the glasses you fitted me with I am glad to say that they have remedied the defect of my eyes to the extent at least that they now give me no trouble whatever. I can sew and read with perfect ease and comfort, and I am delighted to say those terrible pains in the back of my neck, with which I have been afflicted since girlhood have ceased entirely, and I can cheerfully recommend you, and your new system to anyone needing perfect eye work.

MRS. SUSAN BLANEY.

E. M. QUEEN OF QUEEN BROS., Producers of Petroleum, Coal and Gas, says:—Dear Doctor, I can cheerfully recommend you and your new system of eye work to the public as you have given me entire satisfaction and relieved me of great eye strain and annoying headache, something the high priced opticians of Pittsburg failed to do.

PARKERS LANDING, PA., July 6, 1904. Dr. C. Haldaman Stover, Dear Sir:—The spectacles you fitted for me some time ago, seem to be just suited to my eyes. They have relieved me of all eye strain and headache and I can cheerfully recommend your new system of eye work to all who are willing to give you a fair and impartial trial. Yours respectfully, MISS M. E. GIBSON.

Mr. W. R. BROWN, Editor of Millersburg Herald says:—No doubt I have made as many efforts to get the right kind of glasses and worn as many kinds of lenses as the average persons had been fitted in Butler and Pittsburg, but must say I was unable to get any that would improve my sight at a distance, or that I could read more than a few minutes at a time, then would have to stop. I was advised to call on Dr. Stover and try his new system. After a careful examination I was fitted with glasses for both distant and reading. I can now see at a distance perfectly and read for hours the finest kind of print without tiring, something I have not been able to do for years and I recommend Dr. Stover to anyone having eye trouble. He did for me what all others failed to do.

THOUGHTS AND THINGS

WITH A SONG OF WHAT TO DO WITH THE BLUE DEVILS OF BLUES.

With Something About the Things That Can be Seen in a Drive Through Adams County.

CURE FOR THE BLUES.

I'll tell you a cure for the worst case of blues. That ever drove man to commingle with booze. I've tried it myself quite as numerous times as I've fingers and toes, or occasion for rhymes. 'Tis this:—When a purpling horizon I see I jolly some fellow that's bluer than me. You never have felt so in your life, I'll assert, So deep and so strong a sensation of hurt But that, if you sought 'mid the men that you knew, You'd find some poor devil whose tinting of blue Would make your own color seem tame by its side. So try on this rule I so often have tried. When next the blue devils have camped on your trail, And all you can see for yourself is to fail, Just hustle around till you find some poor cuss Who's muddled to death with some terrible muse— Just size up his trouble, forget you are blue, And jolly the fellow that's bluer than you. Baltimore "American."

Many are the tales of travel. There are those who think they must go hundreds and thousands of miles to see something new or worth while. The familiar does not interest them. They will go miles upon miles away from home and then come back with a string of adjectives, and its all guess work what they mean, while they could go out of doors or a few miles and see sights that don't need adjectives to explain. All that need be done is to be quiet and let the sights sink deep into the soul and there is beauty, glory and joy in it all.

There is no mistake about it, Adams County is one of the paradises of this earth. Nature has been prodigal with her gifts of beauty here. Not long ago a man was heard to say that he had been in every State in the Union and in dozens of places in each State and no where did he find any country more beautiful or richer with a grandeur of scenery. There were places he added would equal this country but he knew of none that surpassed it. The expression of this thought is not that of a single individual but there have been hundreds both native and strangers who have said the same thing. Not only this but there have been those who have said that they found no spot in Europe that surpassed the beauty of this place and one declared that the sunsets back of the South Mountains were as gorgeous and beautiful as any in sunny Italy. Many such thoughts were going through the mind during a recent ride. There are roads and cross roads around this town which give different points of view of the country and the variety and beauty of these many views are simply charming.

Other things noted on the drive was the unusual tall corn. We do not recall any previous year when the stalks were uniformly as tall. There must be many fields that a man on horse-back could ride into and be hidden from view. There were a number of points where the road seemed to be on the same level as the adjoining field and with corn growing on either side the road was a closed lane and sitting in the conveyance one could not see over and beyond the corn unless the ground sloped upward, but there were several places where nothing could be seen on either side but corn stalks. Whether the height of the fodder will be at the expense of the ear can only be known later on but if the ear will be in proportion to the stalk there will certainly be a tremendous corn crop this year. Another crop noticed was about an acre of tobacco. Of course tobacco has been grown and is grown in many parts of the county but it has been rarely seen around Gettysburg of late years, yet there is one field within two miles of town which looked to be in most excellent condition.

The rain of Wednesday evening two weeks ago was unquestionably the heaviest rain of this year of many rains. At many points is the evidence of the damage done by this rain. There are fields that seem to have been completely washed out, tons of gravel and sand being carried from one point and deposited at another. Not only were fields washed but the roads were badly washed in many places. Deeper gulleys were dug out than ever before noticed. It would take many dollars, one could say many hundred dollars to properly repair the roads. There are many places which should have the attention of the Supervisors as soon as the same can be given. There are gulleys in the wagon track or alongside into which it would be dangerous to drive day or night.

It is remarkable the difference the lawn mower has made in the county. The advent of the lawnmower has meant much for beautifying the country homes and making them look neat and trim. Ten years ago a well kept lawn was a rare sight. The grass would be any height. Hay would be made on the lawn and in the yard with the scythe. But now the lawn mower keeps the grass short and instead of stubble it is green and a lawn around any property neatly kept adds not only to the appearance of the property but to its value. A ride through the country will show that the majority of lawns and yards are well instead of poorly kept.

Some things might be criticised that were seen, such as the poor condition of index boards. We have said something on this subject before. Remarking don't seem to make impressions on the poor old things. If it is not proposed to keep them up in better condition they had better be removed altogether. Then it is painful to see stumps where fine timberland once stood. Of course a tree must go sometime in its life, but we fear many go before its time is reached. There is a sense of something gone, a loss, to view a point where a beautiful woods once stood, and they are all beautiful, and to realize that it has been cut down regardless whether it should have been cut or not. The Forestry Commission was organized in good time to save the magnificent mountain forests.

For a pretty spot take the junction of Marsh Creek and Willoughby's run. There is a wildness and beauty of water and trees about the place, the whole make up is fine. For a picture with water in it one would not want anything better. A ride or a tour around the county with eyes wide open will well repay the traveler and perhaps then some of the things we have spoken of can be better understood by seeing that by the telling.

REPRESENTATIVE MEN ON THE WORLD'S FAIR

What Distinguished Statesmen and Others Say of the Educational and Inspiring Exposition at St. Louis.

The public utterances of distinguished men who have visited the world's fair have but one note, and that of emphatic praise. Here are some of their comments:

Hon. John Hay, secretary of state: "I have never seen nor heard of anything so fine."

Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury: "Any father of a bright boy can afford to send him to the Fair simply to study any one of at least a thousand exhibits."

Hon. Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio: "A visit of ten days by a man of ordinary aptness and appreciative capacity to the Fair is almost equal to a postgraduate course in a university."

Hon. Benjamin B. Odell, governor of New York: "St. Louis has been badly misrepresented by accounts which say that her weather is unbearable. The Fair is wonderful."

Hon. George C. Pardee, governor of California: "The governor of the Golden State, who has spent all his life within her borders, finds that he knew only a little about his state until he came to the Fair and saw all her varied products assembled together."

Hon. Albert B. Cummins, governor of Iowa: "The Louisiana Purchase Exposition is on the grandest scale of any exposition the world has ever seen."

Hon. Richard Yates, governor of Illinois: "The more I see of the Exposition the more I enjoy it."

Hon. Fenimore Chatterton, governor of Wyoming: "I wish the Fair the greatest success it certainly deserves it."

Hon. Franklin Murphy, governor of New Jersey: "It is well worth coming from New Jersey to see even a small part of this Fair."

Hon. A. B. White, governor of West Virginia: "I cannot speak too strongly of the greatness of this Fair."

Hon. William J. Bryan: "The Exposition is an unparalleled wonder."

Hon. John Sharp Williams, member of congress from Mississippi: "The most wonderful thing of its kind."

Hon. Heke Smith of Georgia, formerly secretary of interior under the President Cleveland: "I am highly pleased with the Exposition and believe it to be one of the triumphs of modern civilization."

Hon. Perry Belmont of New York: "In magnitude and beauty the Fair is wonderful. It is worth coming a long distance to see."

Daniel J. Campau, chairman of the Michigan delegation to the Democratic national convention at St. Louis: "It is positively sinful for parents to fail to bring their children to see the Fair."

M. Paul Dupuy, editor of Le Petit Parisien of Paris, France: "I admire the Exposition for its immensity, its spirit of the sublime, its general beauty and its completeness."

Prince George of Bavaria: "I have never seen anything prettier than the St. Louis World's Fair buildings when outlined at night with their millions of electric lights."

Hon. Louis E. McComas of Maryland: "The greatest Fair in the world."

Hon. John F. Dryden of New Jersey: "The people have no idea of the greatness of the Exposition. Every American should see it."

P. P. Shantz, president of the Clover Leaf route of Chicago: "The Fair is a big success and will continue to become a greater success as it progresses."

WAGE EARNERS AT THE FAIR

Prominent Men Planning to Help Workers See the Great Exposition.

Wage earners of America are to see the World's Fair by tens of thousands under the auspices of the National Civic Federation. A new bureau of the Federation has just been established at St. Louis upon the World's Fair grounds. Back of the movement are Grover Cleveland, David R. Francis, Andrew Carnegie, Cornelius N. Bliss and others. Plans are making to have a vast number of the wage earners of the United States see the World's Fair, the most glorious spectacle of the age and the most influential factor in the education of the American citizen.

The bureau is in charge of Miss Gertrude Beeks, secretary of the Federation's welfare department, of which Mr. H. H. Vreeland, head of the street railway system of New York city, is chairman. The bureau headquarters is in the east end of the Palace of Transportation, on the ground floor. The Exposition management is in hearty accord with this movement on the part of the Federation to induce the large manufacturers and other employers of labor to provide ways and means for the wage earners of America to visit the Exposition. President Francis is displaying personal interest in the undertaking by affording the Federation every facility for the consummation of its efforts, and in this connection he has directed Theodore Hardee, assistant to the secretary, to co-operate with Miss Beeks and Ralph M. Easley, chairman of the Federation's executive council, in every possible way.

The Exposition management has also equipped this bureau with clerical assistance and a full supply of World's Fair literature. The bureau will be used as headquarters for all wage earners coming to the Exposition under its auspices. The aim of the Federation is to make it feasible for the largest possible proportion of wage earners to visit St. Louis and see the World's Fair. It will see that they are met at the depot by responsible persons and conducted to suitable lodgings, where they will be treated fairly.

There will also be furnished, free of charge, appropriate itineraries indicating the points of interest to be seen within a limit of one week, which is about the average time each party will spend here. It will also indicate the objects of special interest to various craftsmen in their particular lines, so that they may devote as much time as possible to the objects of peculiar interest to them. These and many other efforts will be made to help all wage earners to enjoy the benefits of this great Exposition comfortably and at an expense within their means.

AS TO THE JUDGESHIP.

The Democratic platform of Adams county adopted last week, in the matter of the judgeship asserts the belief that an enlightened sentiment of the district is opposed to a continuance of the present Republican incumbent because of his unsatisfactory judicial record. In recognition of this sentiment the COMPILER advised the present incumbent several months ago to withdraw from the contest.

In the matter of a judicial nomination there are many who believe criticism should come before and not after a nomination and so save the bench from a campaign which might have been avoided if the criticism had been made in time. For this reason and to be entirely fair with Judge Swope it is desired to state before he is nominated next week that in the event of his nomination he will be opposed by Democratic citizens and many others, not for partisan reasons, or personal reasons, but on his judicial record.

Personally Judge Swope is a delightful companion and associate but there do not make up the necessary qualifications of a judge. It is Judge Swope's judicial record which shows that he was not built for a judge, and he would be wise in his generation if instead of dictating his nomination next week he retired so that his party could name some one else against whom the same objections could not be urged.

Judge Swope can find no fault with any one but himself for the deficiency in his judicial record. The COMPILER some months ago stated six reasons he had made apparent him-self. 1st. That his opinions were without legal respect. 2d. His great number of new trials was injurious to every business interest in county. 3d. His hearing of matters in which a corporation was interested while he was a trustee of the corporation. 4th. The absence of patience and poise in hearing arguments and matters before him. 5th. His inability to be beyond the control of influences and prejudices in the discharge of his duties, serving political purposes rather than justice. 6th. Because he is the boss of his party and a deep dyed partisan. Absolute proof can be submitted on these six points and it will be submitted if it must be done.

For instance as to the first reason, reference can be made to a case decided by Judge Swope in 1901 after he had been on the bench seven years. It went to the Supreme Court from Fulton county. It was an appeal from County Commissioners to the Court. The Supreme Court in passing upon Judge Swope's disposition of the case said, "The duty of the learned Court of Common Pleas in such a case, is not that of a clerk to the County Commissioners but that of a Court whose duty it is to hear, deliberate and decide and then make a proper record of its adjudication." Then in referring to a mistake of the assessors and county commissioners they say, "But their mistake now and that of the Court below is in stubbornly adhering to a manifest error." How can there be respect for opinions of a judge where the highest Court in the State reflects upon his conduct of a case as more like that of a clerk to the commissioners than as a judge and condemns him for stubborn adherence to manifest error.

For the sake of the bench we all honor, the appeal is again made to Judge Swope to retire as a candidate and allow his party to name some one against whom there would not be the same objection and there are such available candidates. There would be thus saved the spectacle of a campaign in which lack of qualification of the incumbent—his judicial record—must be the issue.

THE JUDICIAL NOMINATION.

The Democratic County Convention presented the name of Charles S. Duncan for the judicial nomination from the 51st district in the utmost confidence of his ability to carry the district against the present incumbent in the event the latter should decide to run. The name of Mr. Duncan is presented with the utmost confidence that he would bring to the discharge of the duties of the office such learning and ability as would put an end to the unsatisfactory judicial condition at present existing from which business interests and the people have suffered in many ways. This confidence is supported by the harmony which prevails in this county in Democratic ranks, a harmony such as has not been for years. The Democrats have united earnestly, sincerely and determinedly to elect the whole ticket this fall. This is a Democratic year, the full vote will be out and Democracy has presented a strong ticket entitled to the full support of every Democrat and many other citizens in the county. Wm. McSherry, Esq., and Hon. Geo. J. Benner entered into the friendly contest with Mr. Duncan for the nomination at the same time, many weeks before the convention, and there was earnest work done for each and a highly complimentary support given each but both Mr. McSherry and Mr. Benner and their friends can be depended upon to heartily support the ticket and send it along to victory.

The convention naming the ticket recognized the public sentiment that the present Republican incumbent should be defeated on his unsatisfactory judicial record, if he dictates his own nomination and Mr. Duncan was nominated on the platform that he can and will defeat him and will make a record so permeated with learning, justice and faithfulness as will be entirely satisfactory and make the bench respected as it should be. With his well known ability Mr. Duncan can be depended upon to make a strong canvass in both counties so that the will of the people on the judicial issue may be registered and there can be no doubt of a successful result. As the Democratic convention of Fulton county made no judicial nomination simply electing their conferees, it is assumed that our sister county will give cordial support to the candidate presented by this county. We trust such will be the case and that Mr. Duncan's nomination will be made with such harmony in the district as to give it a strong impetus toward the victory it will surely win in November.

THE CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATION.

The nomination for Congress from the district of York and Adams belongs as of right to Adams County and the Congressional Conference to whom matter will be shortly referred should recognize that right and nominate the choice of the Democratic County Convention of this county, Hon. Chas. H. Duttera without any quibbling. This nomination belongs to this County at this time for several reasons. While the apportionment act changed the district to two counties instead of three, at no time since the passage of the act did the party in the district establish any new rules about the filling of the nomination, hence the only rule would and did prevail, that each county take alternately two terms, and under this rule the nomination this time belongs to this county. Both counties have virtually recognize this rule this year by the conventions of the party in both counties authorizing the County Chairman to appoint a committee of five to meet with the conferees this year and effect a system of nominations for Congress that shall be just and equitable and properly protect the rights of each county. Until such new system is effected the old rule prevails which gives the nomination this year to Adams Co. More than all else good faith requires that this be done. Two years ago York County insisted upon a different rule and Adams County in absolute faith in her right consented to have the matter referred to State Chairman Creasy for decision. He decided that Adams County was right and was entitled to the nomination. Before his decision was made, the representatives of the two counties deliberately agreed that the decision of Chairman Creasy would not decide the matter merely for one term but that it should be for two terms, the length of time Adams claimed the nomination as matter of right. Good faith demands the nomination of Hon. Chas. H. Duttera by the conferees and we believe the representatives of our sister county will not make the mistake of withholding it but will be as good as their word.

The "Public Pointer," of Carlisle, has the following to say about the nomination of Chas. S. Duncan for judge.

At the Democratic convention of Adams County, on Monday, Hon. Charles S. Duncan, of Gettysburg, was nominated for Judge. It was one of the best things the convention did when they selected so able a lawyer as Mr. Duncan. He is a leading member of the County Bar, a clear-headed business man and besides his Democracy is not questioned. There is no reason in the world why a Republican should preside over the courts in the Adams-Fulton district, both counties being Democratic. The Democrats of Adams, we are glad to say, are united to-day, and Mr. Duncan should be elected by a large majority.

VICE-PRESIDENCY NOTIFICATION

SPEECH OF HENRY G. DAVIS IN ACCEPTANCE OF THE NOMINATION.

There Were Twelve Thousand People Present, Many West Virginia Admirers of the Grand Old Man.

At the White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia on Wednesday afternoon of last week occurred the formal notification to Henry G. Davis of his nomination by the Democratic party to the Vice-Presidency. It took place under the broad shade of oaks in the presence of 12,000 people, hundreds of whom were the hill dwellers of the candidate's State, who came on horse back and cheered to the echo the speech of their "Grand Old Man." John Sharp Williams told Mr. Davis of his nomination and he responded in the following speech.

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE COMMITTEE: The official notification which you bring of my nomination for the Vice-Presidency of the United States by the national Democracy gives me a feeling of the sincerest gratitude to my party for the honor conferred. At the same time it brings to me a deep sense of my responsibility to my party as a candidate and to my country in case of my election.

A spirit of determination to succeed in the campaign before us appears to pervade the rank and file of our party in all sections of the country. Of that rank and file I have for many years been a member and have at all times devoted my humble powers to party success, believing that success to be for the country's good. Unexpectedly called as I am now to the forefront, I am impelled to an acceptance of the obligation by a sense of gratitude to my fellow workers and the hope that I may be able the better to assist in restoring to power that party whose principles and past history guarantee a safe, wise, economical and constitutional administration of the Government.

Nominee Below Mason and Dixon's Line

I find it, therefore, a great pleasure, standing here upon the borderland of the two Virginias, to receive and accept the commission you bear and to send greetings through you to the Democracy of the entire country. Is it not significant of a closer and truer brotherhood among us that for the first time since the civil war a nominee on the national ticket has been taken from that section of our common country that lies south of Mason and Dixon's line—a happy recognition of the obliteration of all sectional differences which led to and followed that unhappy struggle.

As introductory to the few remarks I shall make I desire to say that I heartily indorse the platform upon which I have been nominated, and with the convention and its nominee for President regard the present monetary standard of value as irrevocably established.

Times Very Bad Just Now

In the campaign preceding the last election much stress was laid by Republican speakers upon the prosperous condition of the country, and forebodings were heard of the ill results, especially to the laboring man, which would follow any change in the political complexion of the Government. It is true that the times then were good, but it is no less a fact that, while there has been no change in the party in power, many of the evils prophesied have come under Republican rule. Four years ago factories, mills, mines and furnaces were in active operation, unable to supply the demand, but now many are closed, and those that are open are being operated with reduced forces on short hours. Then wages were high, labor was scarce and there was work for all. Now work is scarce, many wage earners are unemployed and wages reduced. The apprehension which now prevails in business circles and the present unsatisfactory industrial conditions of the country seem to demand a political change.

Labor Entitled to Good Wages.

In the language of our platform, "the rights of labor are certainly no less vested, no less sacred, and no less inviolable than the rights of capital." The time is opportune to emphasize the truth of this utterance. The most sacred right of property is the right to possess and own one's self and the labor of one's own hands—capital itself being but stored-up labor. For years I worked in the ranks as a wage earner, and I know what it is to earn my living in the sweat of my brow. I have always believed, and my convictions came from the hard school of experience, that measured by the character of work he does and the cost of living, a man is entitled to full compensation for his services. My experience as a wage earner and my association with labor have alike taught me the value of Democratic principles, for in them the humblest has the strongest security for individual right and the highest stimulus to that independence of spirit and love of self-help which produce the finest private characters and form the base of the best possible government.

The Government Extravagant

The receipts of the Government for the year ending June 30, 1902, the first fiscal year of the present administration, showed a surplus over expenditures of $91,000,000, but for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, instead of a surplus there was a deficit of $41,000,000. From July 1, 1904, to Aug. 10, or for about a month and a third of the present fiscal year, the expenditures of the Government have exceeded the receipts by $21,715,000. There could be no stronger evidence of the extravagance into which the Republican party has fallen and no more potent argument in behalf of a change to the party whose tenets have always embraced prudence and economy in administering the people's affairs.

Our Republican friends are prone to refer to the great commercial growth of the country under their rule, and yet the census reports show that from 1850 to 1860, under Democratic rule and the Walker tariff, the percentage of increase was greater in population, wealth, manufactures and railroad mileage, the factors which effect most largely the prosperity of the country, than in any decade since.

The cost of government has largely increased under Republican rule. The expenditures per capita for the last years respectively of the administrations given, taken from the reports of the Secretary of the Treasury, were as follows:

In 1860 under Buchanan, $2.01; in 1893, under Harrison, $5.77; in 1897, under Cleveland, $5.10; in 1901, under McKinley, $6.56; in 1904, under Roosevelt, $7.10.

Republicans' Money Record

The Republicans now claim great consistency in their attitude upon the currency question, and the President in his recent speech of acceptance said that they know what they mean when they speak of a stable currency, "the same thing from year to year," and yet in the platforms of their party in 1884, 1888 and 1902 they favored the double standard of value. In the platform of 1888 they said: "The Republican party is in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money, and condemns the policy of the Democratic administration in its efforts to demonetize silver."

Brilliant Men Not Elected Presidents.

I congratulate your committee and the constituency it represents, in the selection by the delegates to the national convention of the nominee for the presidency. He is a man of courage, yet prudent; of high ideals, yet without pretence; of the most wholesome respect for the Constitution and the majesty of the laws under it, and a sacred regard for their limitations; of the keenest sense of justice, which would rebel against compounding a wrong to an individual or to a nation; positive in conviction, yet of few words; strong in mental and moral attributes, and yet withal modest and reserved; possessed of a sturdy constitution and magnificent manhood, and yet temperate in his actions and dignified in his demeanor. It is not the orator or man of letters, but the man of reserve force, of sound judgment, of conservative method and steadiness of purpose, whom the people have called to the office of the Presidency, notably in the contest between Jefferson and Burr, Jackson and Clay, Lincoln and Douglas, Grant and Greeley, Cleveland and Blaine.

Platform Sane, Safe and Sound

Dire predictions were made by our political opponents of what would happen at the St. Louis convention, but they misjudged the temper of the party and the people. While there had been differences in preceding campaigns, yet at St. Louis they were all harmonized and a common ground was found upon which all could stand and do battle for Democratic principles. A platform was adopted by a unanimous vote embracing the issues of the day and presenting to the people a declaration of principles which in the language of the times, is sane, safe and sound.

With a candidate whose personality appeals to the good sense and sound judgment of the American people, a platform whose principles are for the greatest good to the greatest number, and a reunited party earnest for the restoration of good and economical government, we should succeed and the principles of Democracy again triumph.

I beg my countrymen, as they value their liberty, to guard with great care the sacred right of local self-government and to watch with a jealous eye the tendency of the times to centralize power in the hands of the few.

Mr. Chairman, it is an added pleasure to receive this notification at your hands. You have been conservative and courageous as leader of our party in the House of Representatives, a position which few men have filled with the signal ability that you have displayed.

It will be my pleasure and duty, at a time not far hence, to accept more formally in writing the nomination which you have tendered in such graceful and complimentary terms, and to give my views upon some of the important questions now commanding the attention of the country.

Letter to Prof. I Book

Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: You are a teacher: here's one for your boys:

If the painting costs two or three times as much as the paint, and one paint goes twice as far as another, how much are those two paints worth?

If Devoe is worth $1.50 or $1.75 a gallon, how much is the other one worth?

How much is a gallon of paint worth anyhow?

The answer is: Depends on the paint.

The reason is: paint isn't always paint. There are true and false paint and short-measure.

How much is a short-measure gallon worth? How much is false paint worth? How much is Devoe worth? There are millions a year in answer to this last one.

Yours truly

That "played out"—"done up" feeling makes life miserable for every sufferer from Kidney ills, backaches, headaches and urinary troubles, painful and annoying.
Doan's Kidney Pills
bring new life and activity, remove the pain and cure the cause, from common backache to dangerous diseases.
Mr. S. R. Bollinger, who resides at 425 South Duane street, bookkeeper at W. H. Hoffman's cigar factory, York, Pa., says: "Backache became so frequent that I could not do my work. I tried to cure it by eating and drinking anything to cure it or even to relieve it. I could not do a day's work without suffering. While trying one medicine after another my attention was attracted by an account of Doan's Kidney Pills in the papers, and of course they in turn were given a trial. I procured them at Hollett's drug store. Before I had taken a box of them I had no backache. I could work at the desk as steadily as I liked and did not even get tired in the back."

Icons Subjects.
Icons may represent anything from the figure of a saint to a historical scene, such as a martyrdom. Often they take the form of a diptych or a triptych or a polyptych crowded with angular or diminutive figures of saints or miniature scenes from the life of the Virgin or some other Biblical personage. From the number of scenes contained in these objects the peasants came to call them "churches," for there were not more pictorial representations within the church itself. Such icons may be of brass or of carved boxwood, being sometimes ornamented with enamel.
Durability of Ivory.
The durability of ivory is proved by the fact that billiard balls, which for the sake of curiosity have been made of well preserved mammoth ivory undoubtedly many thousands years old, were played with for several months by experienced players without its being noticed that the balls were not made of fresh ivory. Mammoth ivory is, as a rule, not as tough as fresh ivory.

A Nose Romance

(Original.)
Miss Anderson was very romantic. She could make a love story out of any case where there was marriage or failure to marry. One day Mr. and Mrs. Buddington called, and as they passed out Miss Cartright came in.
"What a singular looking couple," remarked Miss Cartright.
"Do you think so? Poor things, they can't help it. That disfigurement is connected with their courtship. Sit down; I'll tell you about it."
Miss Cartright threw herself onto a divan and Miss Anderson proceeded.
"Mrs. Buddington was not her husband's first love. That's where the romance comes in. I don't like stories where children grow up together and marry. I prefer them where the parties come together in some startling manner."
"But I must tell you that Mr. Buddington was first engaged to Miss Martin. It was one of those cases where a good, noble man, when he is too young to know his mind, falls in love with a pretty face and afterward meets one for whom he conceives a grand passion. Mr. Buddington was a gentleman born; Miss Martin was the daughter of a nobody."
"Well, one day Mr. Buddington was in a trolley car. He was not in business dress; afternoon dress—that is, frock coat, silk hat and light pants."
"Trousers, you mean."
"Well, trousers if you like the name better. Of course in such a dress a gentleman's toilet is not completed without a silk umbrella. Mr. Buddington carried one. He didn't carry it as a lady would, by the handle, the point lowered, but just like a man, under his arm and at an angle. He was holding to a strap, with his back to the front of the car, when it came to a sudden stop. Mr. Buddington was thrown violently backward. There was a shriek directly behind him, and, turning, he saw a beautiful girl, with her nose bleeding profusely. His umbrella point had rammed it."
"Mr. Buddington apologized as best he could, and, as the bleeding continued, suggested that the girl get out at a corner drug store. She consented, and at the next corner Mr. Buddington pulled the bell rope, the car stopped, and the two got out, attended by a sympathetic married lady."
"It wouldn't have been proper for them to go without a chaperon," put in Miss Cartright. "How nicely it all comes about!"
"Very. The drug clerk telephoned for a doctor, who came and bound up Miss Palmer's nose. That was her name. Then Mr. Buddington insisted on calling a carriage, and the three were driven to Miss Palmer's home."
"The next day Mr. Buddington called at Miss Palmer's house to ask how she was doing. Miss Palmer's mother came down into the drawing room and assured Mr. Buddington that her daughter was doing very well, but her nose was bandaged and a bag of ice tied to the end of it to prevent a recurrence of the bleeding. This of course prevented Miss Palmer from coming down."
"I wouldn't have gone down for a fortune," said Miss Cartright, quite shocked at the idea.
"Mr. Buddington called often, but Mrs. Palmer always came down in her stead, making excuses why Miss Palmer did not come down herself. Mr. Buddington could not surmise what it meant. He was dreadfully worried. Finally, at one of his visits, Miss Palmer came down to see him, and what do you suppose?"
"What?"
"Her nose had been broken."
"How awful!"
"Mr. Buddington felt that he was to blame for the broken nose, and was so sweet about it that he quite captivated the poor girl. He called frequently, always asking her "What can I do to repair the damage?" You see her beauty was spoiled and unfortunately her face was her fortune. He couldn't do anything to repair the damage; only a doctor could do that and there was some reason why they didn't want to perform an operation in her case. I don't know what, so there was nothing that Mr. Buddington could do in the matter except—"
"To marry her!"
"How did you know it was coming out that way?"
"I'm very good at seeing through impenetrable plots."
"But Mr. Buddington was engaged to Miss Martin. He passed many a day and night's anguish, often lying awake for hours struggling with himself like the good noble man he was, thinking himself bound in honor to both girls, though he now knew he loved Miss Palmer."
"What did he do?"
"Why, he wrote Miss Martin a good kind note, telling her that he thought honor required him to marry Miss Palmer."
"What a high minded way to put it! Did she generously release him?"
"Why, no; she showed his note to her brother, who went to Mr. Buddington's office, and, before he knew what the fellow was going to do, Martin struck him in the face and—"
"Broke his nose."
"The brute."
"Mr. Buddington felt released after this."
"I should think so."
"So he went to Miss Palmer and proposed to her. And here's where a new complication comes in. He found that Miss Palmer was engaged to a man she didn't love. But since Mr. Buddington's nose had been broken in her behalf she broke her engagement with the other man and married Mr. Buddington."
"How lovely!" F. A. MITCHEL.

ALL OVER THE COUNTY

A THRESHING RIG GOES THROUGH A BRIDGE INTO THE CREEK

Stock of York Springs Bank Subscribed—A Plague of Thieving in County—Savvy Ugly Accidents.

While Lewis Bushey of Latimore township was crossing the bridge that spans creek near Dardorff's Mill close to York Springs, with his threshing rig, the structure gave way and precipitated the engine into the water, a drop of about five feet. Mr. Bushey escaped without a scratch. With the help of a number of men the machine was extricated and found only slightly damaged.

There seems to be a plague of robbery and petty thieving going on in different parts of the county. The residence of Henry Conrad, of Urich, was entered one night last week and a watch, purse and other articles stolen. Thieves the same night made an unsuccessful attempt to enter Paxton's store.

Montgomery D. Neidich, of Hampton, drove to Creiger's Dam last week to catch some bait fish. He ditched his horse and went some distance away. Returning in an hour he discovered the animal had torn loose. In making turn at Creiger's bridge near New Chester, the horse fell and broke his neck.

Dr. G. E. Spatz of Hampton, assisted by Drs. T. C. Miller of Abbotstown and J. L. Sheets of New Oxford performed an operation on empyema on Clara Wolf a twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wolf of Abbotstown, removing about one quart of pus. The boy is getting along as well as can be expected.

The York Springs Hotel has been bought at public sale by Henry C. Dahr of Carlisle for $3400. The purchaser for a number of years has conducted the Pennsylvania House in Carlisle and will move to his new property in the spring.

John Clunk, of Irishtown while at work in Hoke's limestone quarries near Hendrix Station last week had a large stone accidentally fall on the back of his right hand, the sharp edge of the stone severing some of the leaders and blood vessels and bruising the hand in a very ugly manner.

Joseph Kuhn, an employee of Alwin's brick yards at Berlin Junction, while carting clay from the quarry was caught by a cave in and thrown with such force against the cart wheel as to cut a very ugly gash in his chin, requiring several stitches to draw the wound together.

All the stock for the new bank in York Springs has been subscribed and the next thing is a meeting of the stockholders for the election of directors.

Former Pastor's Golden Anniversary. Rev. Dr. Joel Swartz, who is well known as a poet and devotional writer and who is now pastor of St. John church, Devon, recently celebrated his golden anniversary at the summer home of his son on South Hero Island, in Lake Champlain. Twenty-five children and grand children were present at the celebration. Three of his sons are in the ministry.

A sister of Mrs. Swartz, who is living in California, came east to be present at the golden anniversary. Dr. Swartz is well known here, having at one time been pastor of the St. James Lutheran Church.

Do It Today.—The time-worn injunction, "Never put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it today." That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy "to-day" and let that remedy be Dr. Roschke's German Syrup, which has been in use for over 25 years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The Earliest International Band Contest Was Held In 1720.

The earliest record of an international band contest is of one held in the year 1720 between the bands of Handel and Buononcini, a gifted Italian composer, who by his friends and admirers was declared to be infinitely superior to the German master. The king led the partisans of the German and the Prince of Wales those of the Italian artist. The controversy has been perpetuated in the lines of John Byron, a popular poet of his day:

Some say, compared to Buononcini, That Myneer Handel's but a ninny. Others aver that he to Handel is scarcely fit to hold a candle. Strange all this difference should be, When attendance will be given and terms made known by.
